EXPO

- Promoting, soliciting, selling or bartering any admission ticket or item for more than its face value;
- Conducting, leading, or participating in any unauthorized gatherings, demonstrations or expression of public opinion that disrupt or restrict crowd management relative to EXPO events;
- Consuming any food or drink that has not been purchased from a licensed EXPO outlet and consumed in an area designated for that purpose;
- Other than by prior agreement and with the express permission of EXPO, the bringing in of any outside purchased food or beverage to any area under EXPO management, licensed or otherwise, regardless of whether it is for personal consumption or delivering to others;
- Any behaviour that is dangerous or that may endanger the safety of the visitor, or other users, or the rights of other users to enjoy the space, or give rise to a risk of damage to the property of the EXPO or any third party; and,
- Promoting, including, but not limited to: distributing any material or items of any kind, including leaflets or printed material of any kind, soliciting visitors whether for business or any other purpose, or undertaking any kind of questionnaire or poll, without the consent of EXPO.

3. Public Health provisions and compliance:

EXPO requires all persons entering any part of the EXPO premises to comply with all Laws, Legislation and Government Guidelines relating to Public Health and the prevention of the spread of communicable diseases. Any person failing to comply with these requirements (e.g. refusing to wear a facemask, failing to present their "Health Code" "State Council Travel History Code," or not having their temperature checked, or any other conditions that EXPO may, from time to time, announce), will be denied entry and must leave the EXPO immediately.

4. To ensure the safety and wellbeing of all, visitors are asked to:

- Supervise children and take care of the elderly;
- Take care of and be responsible for their own personal property;
- Stand still on escalators and hold the handrail;
- Refrain from pushing, running, boisterous behavior and queue-jumping;
- Show respect for all guests and users of EXPO; and,
- Contact Venue Services and Safety Department by telephoning 024-3161 9900 to offer any complains or suggestions.

EXPO reserves the right of final interpretation and amendment of these House Rules for Visitors.
